

How Does Connect2Help211 Help Morgan County Residents?

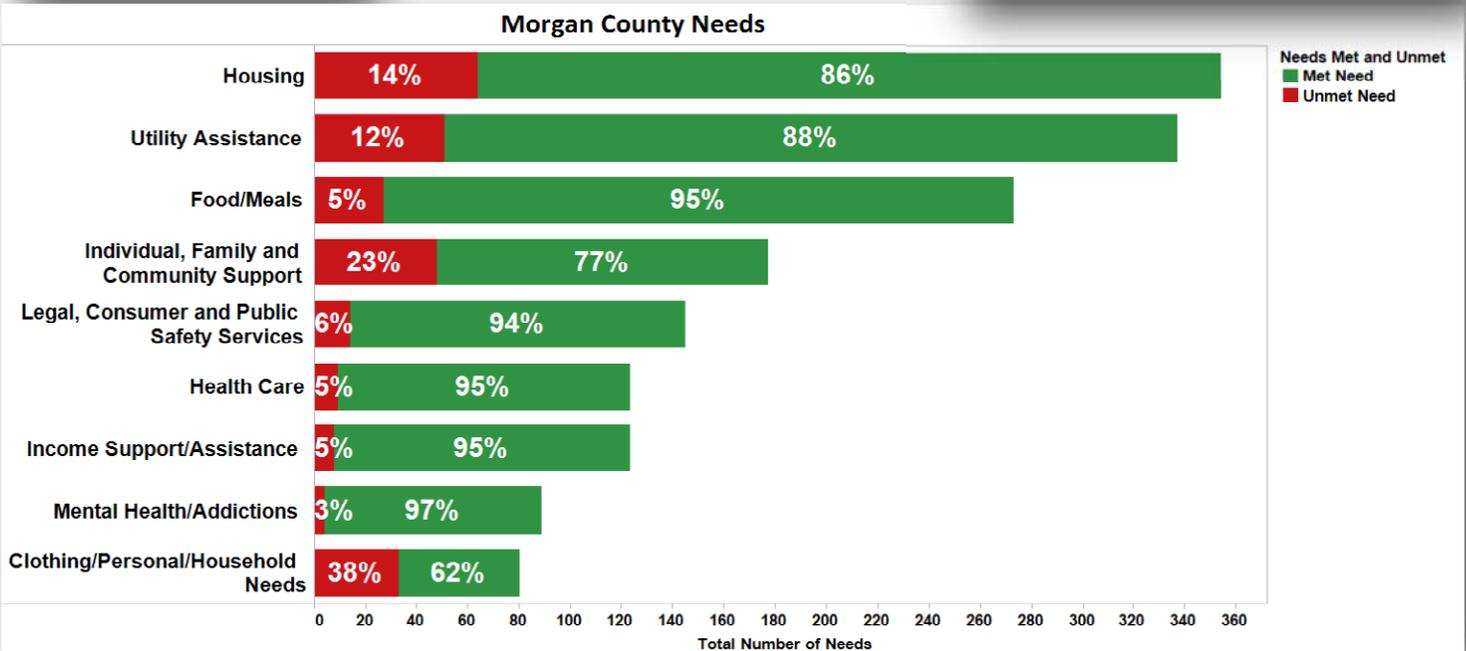

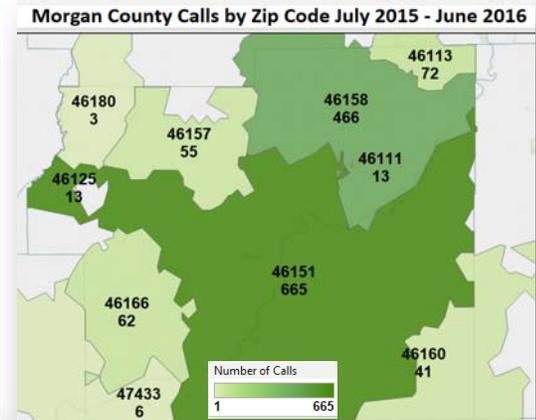

June 2016 Morgan County Report

As Indiana celebrates the 200th anniversary of our statehood, we look at the special relationship Connect2Help211 has with Morgan County. Connect2Help211 first began providing 211 services to Morgan County in 2004. Since that time, our Resource Database Team has worked to add and update information on the 4,082 resources that will serve Morgan County residents. This means that our Connect2Help211 Specialists are able to give residents the most up to date and accurate information so that they are best prepared to get the help they need. Our database is also available online at www.Connect2Help211.org, where residents can search for resources from the privacy and comfort of their own homes.

From July 1st, 2015—June 30th, 2016, Connect2Help211 has made 3,987 referrals for 2,940 Morgan County residents seeking help to the agencies who provide it.

Requests came from all around Morgan County. These residents reported 3,628 individual needs. Demonstrated in the graph below, not all callers' needs were able to be met. 13% of needs were marked as unmet.

What Can You Do To Help?

2-1-1 is a free service to you. But we still need to pay our people, our tech expenses, and our rent. Connect2Help211 is here, for every need, at any time, because of private donations, grants, service contracts, and now some new government funding. But the government funding is split between the eight different Indiana 2-1-1 centers, so we still rely on local support to be able to maintain this service. To make sure that we are always here for your call, or the call from a loved one - please write or call your state legislators, your local United Way, or your County Community Foundation and tell them that you see the community value of 2-1-1 services. Urge them to support 2-1-1 in your county. Together we can make a difference.
